Music Highlights '46-7 Assemblies

Gladys Swarthout and Minneapolis Symphony
Will Appear at B. G.

Two outstanding musical programs will highlight the assemblies to be presented at the University next year.

Gladys Swarthout, noted vocalist, will appear in an evening recital on Sunday, November 3, during the first semester.

On February 12 the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will present a concert which will be the main event during the second semester season.

These programs have been scheduled by the entertainment committee headed by Prof. John Swartz. Other programs for the year will be announced at a later date.

Art Open House Will Be Tonight

An open house work shop and exhibit in elementary art education will be held at 8 tonight in the art department in the Men's Gymnasium.

The work shop, conducted by Mr. Ralph Trivella, visiting art instructor, will work with groups wishing information or help in art education.

An invitation has been extended to all students to view the exhibit completed by those enrolled in art education during the summer session.

"Perfect Alibi" Flats Reminiscent Of Bygone Theatre Productions

Flats used in the scenery for "Perfect Alibi," summer production of the University Theatre to be staged next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, August 7 and 8, tell of all the various elements which go into the making of the Milne comedy-mystery.

"Well, these are the flats we have to use, and there is no new muslin to cover them." So John Nagy and the stage crew started in with their brushes to repaint the canvas covered wooden frames which have provided the background for University plays the past seasons.

One light red flat goes way back to "Royal Family," the private story of the Barrymores. Three more remind crew members of the two old maids who murdered to benefit their victims in "Arsenic and Old Lace." "Noah," most recent production on the Bowling Green stage, provides a wave effect. Even the Bard is represented with a flat from "Taming of the Shrew."

"Perfect Alibi" requires a light colored set which must be entirely uniform so as not to divert the audience from the play. Thus the crews have quite a problem on their hands repainting these flats. But the tradition of good plays set by the productions from which the flats are inherited will likewise be "on stage" next week for the summer play directed by Prof. Sidney Stone.

diploma fees due

Payment of the diploma fee of $2.50 may be made anytime before August 3, according to a memorandum from the Registrar.

Expansion Begun On Bookstore

Permanent Quarters Ready Next October

Doubling the capacity of the University bookstore in the basement of the Ad Building is now underway. Temporary construction was begun last week and will add a section of the corridor to the bookstore. Permanent additions to be built over the Rec Hall are expected to begin next week.

Two counters will be made available by the temporary addition. Cash sales will be handled on the north side of the store where the present show case is to be moved. Sales to veteran students will be made at the south side of the store.

Permanent quarters for the bookstore will not be ready when the fall semester rush begins. Completion of that construction cannot be expected before the middle of October.

When work on this job begins structural steel beams will be put in where the first columns in the Rec Hall now stand and the addition will be built upon them. Perhaps, if the cost is not prohibitive, an orchestra shell may be built beneath the bookstore addition in the alcove thus created.

New Fraternity Pledges 19 Men

Kappa Sigma Delta Has Largest Class

Kappa Sigma Delta, newly organized local fraternity, sponsored its first social activity, a smoker, at the Falcons' Nest on Tuesday, July 23. Elmer Brown, president, noted that Kappa Sigma Delta also was seated on the Bowling Green interfraternity council the same day.

Since that time, Arthur Lauer, pledge master, announced that nineteen new members have been pledged into the fraternity. They are: David Aurelius, Lorain; James Carney, New Kensington, Pa.; John Compton, Toledo; Carl Delasantina, Sandusky; Frank and Walt Ettinger, Chagrin Falls; Ronald Graves, Lorain; John Fisch, Lake Forrest, Ill.; Edward Gensler, Fostoria; William Kahl, Wadsworth; Don Kinnaman, Fostoria; Rodger Kurtz, Sandusky; Tom McHugh, Toledo; James Pearce, Dayton; Carl Poppe, New Bremen; Bob Swarthout, Rochester, Mich.; Charles Warren, Findlay; Jack Waterhouse, Dayton; and Edward Wess, Euclid.

Pledge pins are not being issued to new members in order to incur as little additional expense as possible to the fraternity as Kappa Sigma Delta is petitioning Kappa Sigma, national fraternity, and anticipates national membership early in the fall.

Ac Cards are available now in the Business Office for those students who did not obtain their cards when they registered.

These cards are needed for admission to University plays, events sponsored by the social committee, and for use of athletic equipment and the pool.

Harrison Forman Discusses Red China On Wednesday

Harrison Forman, noted Far-Eastern correspondent, will speak on "Crisis in China" at the assembly next Wednesday morning, August 7, in the Auditorium. Mr. Forman has just returned from four years duty as a foreign correspondent in China for The New York Times, The London Times, Collier's, and the National Broadcasting Company.

Among the pertinent questions that he promises to answer are: Who are the Chinese Communists? Have they any connection with Soviet Russia? And what is the United States doing in China?

Mr. Forman's views on China have stirred up considerable discussion. His information and facts about China reflect his "inside" work as a newspaper man. As a lecturer he now attempts to give those impressions and views that he was unable to report as a correspondent. He promises to give "something that you don't get from the papers."

In addition to his controversial "Report From Red China" published last year, Mr. Forman is the author of "Through Forbidden Tibet" and "Horizon Hunter." He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Wisconsin and promptly abandoned this country for the adventurous life of an explorer and correspondent. He has been associated with the Chinese Communist Army since 1937 when he took motion pictures of the "Reds" and of the bombardment of Shanghai for "The March Of Time."

Shortened class periods will be scheduled for Wednesday morning, as the assembly will run from 11:30 to 12:20. Classes will meet as follows:

Class Hour	Will Meet
7:00	7:00-7:45
8:05	7:50-8:35
9:10	8:40-9:25
10:15	9:30-10:15
11:20	10:20-11:20
Assembly	11:30-12:20

'46 Key Goes To Press

The 1946 Key has gone to press. Page proofs corrected by editor Alice White were returned to the printer last week.

It is expected that the book may be ready to be bound before the end of the summer session. Thus it may be distributed soon after the fall term begins.

Students Needed At Local Plant For Canning Annual Tomato Crop

by Hank Lewis

Students are offered one of those rare opportunities to tell their employer just when and how long they want to work in helping the Heinz plant here to can this year's tomato crop.

Beginning on August 17, right after the end of the summer session, Heinz will start hiring workers and especially wants students, male and female, and wives of veterans attending Bowling Green. No quota has been set on the total number of workers to be hired. Rather a policy of "come one, come all" will be followed in order to prevent ruin of the crop.

Frosh Handbook Out Next Week

The Freshman Handbook for 1946-47 will probably be ready for distribution early next week. Dean of Freshmen Kenneth H. McFall, said the Handbook will be mailed to all incoming freshmen before the beginning of the fall semester.

This year the Handbook will feature an aerial view of the campus on the front cover. Also included in the publication will be a two-page table listing all activities and organizations for which freshmen are eligible.

Other material in the Handbook includes welcomes from administration and professors, information on the town of Bowling Green, what freshmen should bring with them, and information on dormitory accommodations. A feature article will explain Freshman Week. Ten revived hazing rules will be included with University songs, cheers, and traditions.

Blanche Spangler is editor of the Handbook.

Tomato harvest will begin about August 10, reach its peak around September 8, and continue until the early part of October, Heinz officials said.

Because of the acute labor shortage, students are urged to pitch in and help save the tomatoes. Fair pay and a choice of hours are offered. It seems like an excellent opportunity to stack up a little pin money for that rough course in Nestology next fall.

It is suggested that students who want to help out might remain in Bowling Green at the close of the summer session; some may wish to return a week or so early before the fall term begins and work then. During the first few weeks of school Heinz is also in need of part time workers.

Rehearsing Their 'Alibi'

Prof. Sydney Stone goes over the lead roles in A. A. Milne's comedy, "Perfect Alibi," with Jean Pugh Roberts and Lee Miesle.

a Student union

Despite wide-spread objection to use of the Falcons' Nest as a mess hall for the Cleveland Brown's football squad now training on our campus, evidently the husky gridgers must continue to have their supper there. Such arrangements as could be made to feed the Browns elsewhere have removed them from the student union for two meals.

College Spirit

However, the Bee Gee News can at least correct a possible misunderstanding among the student body on one score. In so far as the management of the Falcons' Nest is concerned, the student union is primarily for students.

Concrete evidence of this real college spirit is offered by the tea dance sponsored by the Veterans' Association which was held in the Nest two weeks ago. Although the Association expected to pay for the twenty-five gallons of iced tea served, Mrs. Wright refused to accept payment and footed the bills for the ice, sugar, lemons, and tea.

How About Helping?

Gripes about the long lines and slow service are always run into whenever several waiting students run out of comments on the weather. As a matter of fact, however, the service at the Nest is not nearly so poor as one might think. It is no easy task to serve several hundreds of students during the rush hours which occur with disturbing regularity three times a day.

If students think the service is poor they could do a few things like taking their dishes back to the cart at the south end of the counter. But of course those who gripe loudest are the ones who never lift a hand themselves.

by Bruce Sidebotham

Reactionary forces have again taken over in Georgia. Through a block voting system in which Gene Talmadge had the right counties, Governor Ellis Amall's man was defeated in the Democratic primaries despite his majority of the ballots cast. Thus the blood stained banner of "white supremacy" will again fly over the executive mansion of what in recent years has been the most progressive southern state.

Less dramatic than the lynching of four Negroes shortly after the election is the effect which the return of Gene "Back to Suspenders" Talmadge will have on Georgia's educational system. Under his earlier reign colleges in the state were purged of instructors who did not endorse "white supremacy." Soon a degree from Georgia meant nothing in educational circles.

Although we on this campus are not faced with the dark prospects confronting students in Georgia, in a sense their problem is also ours. It is a black mark against all education and against democracy that reaction again reigns in Georgia. College students must form a solid front against such attacks on higher education whether they are immediately affected or not.

Balogh Recital Scores Success Not Equalled Here Since '44

by Jack Miller

Four well-earned encores demanded by an audience of over eight hundred students climaxed the piano recital presented by Erno Balogh on Monday morning. Throughout the program the listeners were held in rapt attention by the brilliant artistry of this master pianist.

Although forced by time limitations to drop several incidental numbers from the program, Balogh included selections from Bach, Beethoven, and Chopin and modern compositions by the Brazilians Villa-Lobos and Fructuoso Vianna. In place of the Suite and Rumanian Dance by Bela Bartok, the pianist chose his former professor's "At the Crossroads" as his third encore.

Balogh's subtle technique at the keyboard was fully revealed in the lighter Bach selections rendered. Qualities of the lullaby were expressed in Villa-Lobos' selection. As the pianist himself commented, a certain "boogie woogie" rhythm dominated the colorful "Corta Joca" which Vianna based upon a folk tune of the Amazon.

Most notable in the encores were from the pen of Ernesto Lucona. Also played was the Straus waltz "Blue Danube."

Balogh's Chopin selections played in the last part of the program were climaxed by a brief selection from his very popular "Polonaise."

Major work included in the recital was Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique." During this number the audience showed its maturity of appreciation which was equalled by informal enthusiasm toward the end of the recital. Despite the pressure of time Balogh as thoroughly appreciated his audience as much as he was appreciated.

Balogh's recital last Monday was the finest guest artist appearance at Bowling Green since two summers ago when Percy Grainger and Josef Wagner were both presented here.

Puerto Rican Boy Scouts Join B. G. 'Latin Colony'

Three years ago Jaime Vives and Antonio Maldonado were members of the same Boy Scout troop in Utuado, Puerto Rico. Today they are "Jim" and "Tony" to classmates at Bowling Green, where they enrolled this summer.

They became interested in Bowling Green after Jim's mother had seen a copy of the University catalog. "She decided I should go to college in a small American city and convinced Antonio to come along," Jim recalled.

Twenty years old this summer, the boys are away from Puerto Rico for the first time. They came to New York City by air. After visiting relatives in the big city, they missed getting together on the trip here.

Their plan had been to take "the" Bowling Green train on a certain day. Little did they realize the complexities of New York depot departures. Even so they arrived only 15 minutes apart, Jim by Baltimore & Ohio and Tony by New York Central.

When they met on the campus later that day, they immediately broke into a staccato of Spanish. They speak English well, but slip on an occasional word.

For example, Tony was asked what he liked most about the University.

"The people—they are so familiar," he replied.

"You mean friendly?" the interviewer questioned.

"Oh yes—that's right."

Jim is studying accounting and Tony general business. The former plans to return to Puerto Rico after graduation, but the latter may stay in this country.

Other students from foreign lands include eight from Panama, among them a sister and brother, Bernice and Francisco Ruiz. The remaining six Panamanians are Elvira Barrera, Marta Clavel, Olga Crowe, Nuria McKay, Esperanza Mendoza, and Noris Perez. Lolita Salazar, from Mexico, completes the list of foreign co-eds.

In addition to Puerto Ricans, Antonio Maldonado and Jaime Vives and to Francisco Ruiz, Bowling Green has two Peruvians, Hugo Mendiola and Fernando Valasco, and one other Latin American, Adolfo Gonzalez from Nicaragua.

The Hot Corner

by Bill Sherman

The Cleveland Browns, who arrived on campus this week, are up to their necks in a court battle which has been the talk of football circles for the past several weeks.

The hubbub all started when the Browns signed two former Rams, halfback Gaylon Smith and tackle Chet Adams. It seems that both Smith and Adams signed to play with the Rams at the time the team was located in Cleveland, but did not consider themselves property of the Rams when the team franchise was moved to Los Angeles.

In a recent interview Coach Paul Brown issued this statement: "Adams and Smith both admittedly signed to play for the Cleveland Rams, but not the Los Angeles Rams. This is our bone of contention."

At the present time both players in question are with the Browns, but this may not be permanent. Watch the papers for the outcome of this battle.

Ridge Fails to Appear

Some of the fans who came out to see the baseball game last Wednesday were quite angry when no game was played. To explain the reason for this Owen Ernsthansen phoned Stony Ridge and found that the Ridge's manager had resigned due to an argument with other team officials and had failed to mention the impending game with the Falcons. This is an unfortunate situation, but if the students will come out this Thursday the team will be playing, and from all reports a very good team.

Riding Courses Added

Four full-time courses starting September 1 will be offered by the Hedden School of Riding at the University.

They are for men or women, civilians or veterans, preparing to become instructors in equitation, trainers, managers or show riders.

Summer Gridders Work Out

Average age of the 66 summer football candidates at Bowling Green State University is 22½ years and their weight 187 pounds.

Aaron (Bill) Croop, sophomore from Massillon, at 241 pounds is the heavy weight of the squad. He was a Falcon tackle in 1941 before leaving for service.

Coeds Ball Game Ends In 9-9 Draw

Pris Power and Edie Conrad were chosen captains of the women's intramural softball teams last week. The first clash between Power's Bees and Conrad's Gees resulted in a 9 to 9 tie.

Umpire at Own Risk

Errors were still plentiful, but with the old mainstays from Shatzel and a few spectacular plays from the other players some of the spectators could still remark that those girls can really play ball. The umpire for this fracas was George who was hit with a flying glove sent with the compliments of the Gee's captain.

Peg's Pointers

by Margaret Finney

The proposed women's tennis tournament died a painful death because of lack of publicity and apparent disinterest among the women students. Only one co-ed, out of five-hundred enrolled, offered to play in the all-campus tournament.

Outside of one press release and an inconspicuous piece of notebook paper hung in the main hall of the Womens Building there was no publicity. No posters appeared in the Well, the Nest, or the dorms. It wasn't even talked up.

However, the women should shoulder part of the blame. If anyone read the News last week they should at least know that the tournament was to be sponsored. From the number that inhabit the tennis courts all day, the lack of response could hardly be due to an inability to play.

If the University lacks organized recreation, who is at fault?

Stewart Goes to Ottawa Hills

Wayne Stewart, former Falcon fullback star, was recently appointed head football and basketball coach at Ottawa Hills high school. Stewart moves from the head coaching job at Wauseon, Ohio, where he compiled a fine record.

Stewart was graduated from Bowling Green in 1938.

Cleveland Browns Arrive For Four Weeks Training

by Cortes Shepherd

With the Falcon training session almost completed, the Cleveland Browns, professional team, has taken over the University training area for their pre-season warm up. The players led by Coach Paul Brown arrived on Sunday and started practice immediately amid the prospect of two law suits over the signing of players.

The Browns will be here for four weeks in which time Brown hopes to have his present oversized squad cut to the limit set by Conference regulations.

Since this is the first year that the All-America Conference, of which the Browns are a member, has operated, they hope to start it with a championship team.

Championship on Paper

Taking a look at their roster of former college, professional, and service team stars, it hardly seems possible for them to miss. However it must be realized that there are nine more teams in the league which are also loaded with stars. This means there is going to be plenty of hard work for the players conditioning themselves to the grind ahead.

Among those who reported for training here on the campus are several former All-Americans, including the former Northwestern quarterback, Otto Graham.

On Graham's shoulders will probably fall the brunt of the offense. However he is expected to get plenty of support from Dippy Evans, who played at one time for Notre Dame, and the Fekete brothers, Gene and John, from Findlay. Gene is a former Ohio State star.

To lead this brilliant array of backs, Brown also has signed several other stars, Jim Yonokor, Notre Dame's All-American end in 1943 being the leading candidate. No less spectacular, however, are tackles Ernie Blandin formerly of Tulane and Jim Daniell of Ohio State.

Movie Shorts-Shatzel Dance Scheduled For Weekend

A long movie and two shorts in the Amphitheater planned for Friday evening, if the weather permits, and an all-campus dance in the Rec Hall on Saturday evening highlight the social affairs for this weekend.

Plans are also being made for a farewell semi-formal dance at the Women's Building on August 10. This event, the last of the summer social season, will be sponsored by all fraternities and special two o'clock permissions will be granted the women students.

Surprise Party

Fetes Latin Coed

Miss Martha Clavel, junior from Panama, was honored by a surprise birthday party given by Wentz Lehman Monday evening in the Rec Hall.

"Movie Night," Friday's entertainment, will be sponsored by the social committee. Beginning at 9 p.m., a one and a half hour movie program with a comic short will be shown. If it rains, the movie will be held in the Auditorium instead of the Amphitheatre.

"Boston Cooler," is the theme of the Shatzel-sponsored Saturday dance in the Rec Hall which begins at 8:30 p.m. Jack Runyon's eight piece orchestra from Toledo will furnish the music.

Harriet Squire is general chairman with Betty Ruth Krabill heading entertainment; Virginia Roush, decorations; Molly Kinney, refreshments; and Louise Duffey, publicity.

The social calendar for the remainder of the summer session is as follows:

August 2—Movie Night Amphitheater 9 to 10:30 p.m.
August 3—Shatzel Hall Dance (all-campus) Rec Hall 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.
August 7 & 8—All Campus Play Auditorium 8:15 p.m.
August 9—Mixed Chorus Concert Ad Building Steps 7:30 p.m.
